Training in participatory inquiry on climate change and migrations in Sudan

ADESFA Project (Aid to the Development of French Higher Education in Africa)

CliMigraForm is an ADESFA project (2020-2022). Its objective is the training in inquiry on two contemporary major issues in Sudan: climate crises and migration flows. Implemented by a French-Sudanese teaching team, it involves civil society actors through a participatory approach for knowledge production.

The project is based on a partnership between University Paris 8 Saint Denis (France) and University of Khartoum (Sudan).

TRAINING SESSIONS for fieldwork are at the core of this pedagogic participatory project. Matching French and Sudanese students (Master and PhD), and civil society actors, they are held in 2021 in urban (Spring) and rural (Autumn) context.

Sharafa Barakat, a village East of the Blue Nile, Jezira State, has been chosen for the October 2nd Training Session. Practices of irrigated, flood and rain-fed agriculture, relation with Butana pastoralists, the presence of Ashraf religious group, the variety of social composition and individual or collective mobilities, make this place an ideal site for the objectives of the project to be compared with the urban fieldwork of the 1st training session.
